The Anti-Apartheid Movement, London, and other movements of the United Kingdom and other countries have annually promoted the sending of Christmas and New Year's greetings to South Africans banned and banished for their opposition to apartheid and to the families of political prisoners. These greetings are reported to be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Helen Joseph, who was under house arrest for 9 years, wrote:

"Yet even now Christmas Day has remained lovely in spirit, for in spite of the barriers we have found ways of remembering each other. Christmas cards and gifts are left silently on many doorsteps or brought to the gate on Christmas morning. Even my Christmas dinner arrives over the garden gate - turkey, plum pudding, and champagne. My walls are gay with cards, by the hundred - from all over the world now, for house arrest has brought me new friends in other countries, and many more in South Africa. The cards, the flowers, the gifts, all bring their message. I know that I am not really alone and I am strengthened to face the long months in between."

This issue contains a list of addresses provided by the Anti-Apartheid Movement, London.
